

Joan Humes, Former Vice President and Chief Deputy General Counsel, Corporate Legal, Medtronic

Joan Humes is the former Vice President and Chief Deputy General Counsel at Medtronic, Inc. She graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1975 with a degree in Child Psychology and Social work, and returned to the University of Minnesota to pursue law in 1990.

Before her time at Medtronic, Humes worked as the Assistant Attorney General for the state of Minnesota from 1992-1994, and continued to serve in the United States District Attorney's Office until 2006. Simultaneously she taught as an adjunct professor at the Mitchell Hamline School of Law and the University of Minnesota until 2009, with a specialty in pretrial litigation. She has also been a member of the Minnesota State Bar Association since 1990.